I chose to attend an HBCU because I want to grow in an environment where I'm supported, inspired, and surrounded by a community that reflects who I am. As a young Black man who values leadership, service, and STEM, attending North Carolina A&T allows me to pursue a degree in Industrial Engineering while continuing to build a legacy of excellence and representation. Through programs like NSBE Jr. and Men of Honor, I've experienced firsthand the power of mentorship and representation. Choosing an HBCU allows me to continue that journey on a larger scale, with the goal of giving back to my community by helping other students like me. At A&T, I know I'll be challenged, encouraged, and prepared to lead in both engineering and life. It's not just about academics; it's about becoming the best version of myself in a place that believes in my potential.
